

Logan Square

Sleep On It

Found that feeling again
The common thread of where we've been
I'll never forget all the days you and I
Would race down dead ends

The warm air of summer's here
I never thought it'd be so clear
The cracks in these sidewalks
Are the only thing I fear
But summer's turned to cold
I saw it come I watched it go
The leaves started changing
And I finally feel whole again

Can you take me there
Down broken stairs
Where the world disappears again
And I know
That I can't stay long
I will hold this close
Cause this place will always be home
This place will always be home

Feel the cold in the air
Blue line to Logan square
I see the sun is rising
And I hope you're still there
But summer's turned to cold
I saw it come I watched it go
I constantly wish I could find a new way
To make you stay

Can you take me there
Down broken stairs
Where the world disappears again
And I know
That I can't stay long
I will hold this close
Cause this place will always be home

Can you take me there
Down broken stairs
Where the world disappears again
And I know
That I can't stay long
I will hold this close
Cause this place will always be home

Bring me to where it began
Can you make it feel the same again
This place will always be home
