

Parasite

Sleep Theory

I don't need to shove it in your face
It's all you can see
Peel it back and paint it black, whatever
You start to crack as soon as you react
How's it feel to live with this regret losing everything?
You can't trade every debt you can't repay
It's time to lay in the bed you made

But I remember how
You try to break me down

Become the parasite
And stay low as you hold on tight
Keep crawling back inside
And living this lie
You're always taking back the things you say
But no one else was in your way
Crawl back inside, become the parasite

Crawl back inside, become the parasite

You told me you were pulling me up
But kept me one step behind
You set the bait, manipulate, whenever
You compensate, it's all a little late
I guess I couldn't see I was stuck
When you were keeping me blind
You can't change anything you tried to say
It's time to lay in the bed you made

But I remember how
You try to break me down

Become the parasite
And stay low as you hold on tight
Keep crawling back inside
And living this lie
You're always taking back the things you say
But no one else was in your way
Crawl back inside, become the parasite

Now you'll always know that you were nothing like me
Your time is up, I'm done watching you bleed

Become the parasite
And stay low as you hold on tight
Keep crawling back inside
And living this lie
You're always taking back the things you say
But no one else was in your way
Crawl back inside, become the parasite

Crawl back inside, become the parasite