

I am caught, tangled in
Wrapped and quartered
Tripping up and over
Time, lived again
For just a moment
Missing pieces find me

I sweat and, I ache for
Your eyes and the way you breathe

And I wake, saying your name
And I wake, saying your name

You are more, than warm belief
Melting skywards
More than silence broken
I'm, whole again
For just a moment
Until the morning comes

And I wake, saying your name
And I wake, saying your name

You said you better believe it
I said you don't even know

Time lived again for just a moment
Missing pieces find me
I'm whole again, for just a moment
Missing pieces find me

Time lived again for just a moment
Missing pieces find me
I'm whole again, whole again, whole again
