

Fall For Me

Sleep Token

In a city of ice, there are burning cathedrals
Turning the skies into glass
And through echoing futures, over buckling sutures
That hold shut the wounds of the past

So won't you fall for me? Won't you fall for me?
Through a fractured existence, won't you fall for me?
Won't you fall for me, from reality?
To the rhythm of eternity, won't you fall for me?

My insecurities surround me like lions in the den
And I feel like I'm losing touch with what I am again
Slowly, I remember why I cannot pretend
That I never think of you in all this screaming silence
(Oh God, I wish you were here)

So won't you fall for me? Won't you fall for me?
Through a fractured existence, won't you fall for me?
Won't you fall for me, from reality?
To the rhythm of eternity, won't you fall for me? (Oh God, I wish you were here)

Won't you fall for me? Won't you fall for me?
With my love as your garden, won't you fall for me?
Won't you fall for me, from reality?
I am yours in the end, so won't you fall for me?
