

The Sun Also Rises

Sleeper

And the sun also rises
When the birds are in bloom
There are always surprises
At the back of the room

We can build a big house
We can drive in your car
I put it to you, makes no difference at all
To have a happy heart
Just let it all through
Just let it all through
And the world will wrap its songs around you

Every ocean is deeper
Than it seems at the start
It will be an adventure
'Til the last beat of your heart

We can build a big house
We can drive in your car
I put it to you, makes no difference at all
To have a happy heart
Just let it all through
Just let it all through
And the world will wrap its songs around you

And the world will wrap its songs around you
And the world will wrap its songs around you
And the world will wrap its songs around you
And the world will wrap its songs around you

Just let it all through
Just let it all through

And the sun also rises
Just let it all through
Just let it all through

And the sun also rises
Just let it all through
