

Restart

Sleeperstar

Tore the house apart tonight
Throwing books across the room
I was trying to break the silence
I was trying to find you

Remember what we used to be like?
Remember what we used to be like?

Our love used to be inside
Burning passion, pain unseen
Now it's TV dinners
Haven't locked eyes in weeks

Remember what we used to be like?
Remember what we used to be like?

What do I do
I know I have to get you back tonight
Running out of things to say
Running out of desperate moves to make
I need to restart this heart

Read your list of demands
That you know I'll never need
You hold your love hostage
When it needs us to be free

Remember what we used to be like?
Remember what we used to be like?

What do I do
I know I have to get you back tonight
Running out of things to say
Running out of desperate moves to make

What do I do
I know I have to get you back tonight
Running out of things to say
Running out of desperate moves to make

I need to restart this heart

I've got to restart this heart
(Remember what it used to be like?)
I've got to restart this heart

What do I do
I know I have to get you back tonight
Running out of things to say
Running out of desperate moves to make

What do I do
I know I have to get you back tonight
Running out of things to say
Running out of desperate moves to make

What do I do

I know I have to get you back
