

Gone For Good

Sloan

Love ain't lost at such a cost
To reaching new lows for everyone around him must have settled on in To kill the code that they live by gets tossed from a family tree

And where is she now, she is not out there

Now she cries from the agony
While she tries to save this family

She is gone, gone, gone, ooh

He's just coming to as he's pulling away
Another one bites the hand that wears his own name
And three little hearts are all pounding now
What has he done, with another cat's meow

You backbone's broken and it's tumbling down
Your love is gone, she's gone for good

Now she cries from the agony
While she tries to save his family

She is gone, gone, gone

As the guilt floats by in a sea of lies
She can't believe a word he has to say now
He's giving up gold for a darkened sky
And all I can do is wonder why

Now she cries from the misery
While she tries to save a family

She is gone, gone, gone
She is gone forever
Yeah she's gone
She's gone for good
