

So Far So Good

Sloan

I speak to those who have accepted their fates
Their spirits high though no chariot awaits

People are down on this world
But we only have one
Isn't that better than none?

Don't be surprised when we elect another liar
Did you learn nothing from 5 seasons of "The Wire"

When it comes down to it
Everybody meant well
Before their lives went to hell

Oh, what does it matter?
I'll see your best intentions
And I'll raise a generation

So far, so good, I'm siding with your mother
So far, so good, be gentle with your brother
Be good to one another

And you'll realize
One look into their eyes

Consider this on your luxurious wait
Will you find out in time or will it be too late?

Better get on with it
You know who I'm talking to
Changing this world's up to you

Life in the universe seems exceedingly rare so
Be advised to take care
