Year Zero

Sloan

Was that a blue canary
Behind your hands cuffed over by two by two
I heard some friendly fire
He's just a boy who had to bide covering you

If you could nail some takeaway would you?
And if you did would time begin to slow?
Way down, way, way down
To bring the noise of your life right back to year zero
I guess we'll never know

Where is the road we travel?
Can we surround ourselves with a heartfelt crew
Who keep a loaded cabinet
With episodes of a loyalty tried and true?

But if the time begins to shift out of view
We'll hide the signs that says there's no follow through
Down, down, way, way down
To bring the noise of your life right back to year zero
We'll never ever know

I need a dog's inspection
We got rows upon rows of other sides we knew
In the photography section
The stop bath will fix for the developer's view

And once we saw the images come through
It was revealed there is still much to do
About the ins and outs
Of the life we live on this earth
As she waits up for nobody
No, nobody
