

Under The Moon

Smith & Thell

Here we're standing in the luna, luna light
Where have you been, darling all my, all my life
Got me thinking, what are the odds to find love
I've been longing, I've been longing for this rush
Every step and broken dream it lead to us
If you want me, I'll be yours in this life

And I, I lost hope in finding you some day
But oh, there you were just standing in my way
Oh...

So many times that I've been thinking of you
So many nights that I've been tying my shoes
Ready to go out beating my heart all blue
Oh tell me, oh tell me, love
What are the odds I'd find you
What are the odds
With so many people living under the moon

Here we're standing in the luna, luna light
And I know now why I've missed you all my life
Got me thinking, what were the odds that you'd be mine
I know I'm broken, will you cope with all of me
I've got more soulprints than the naked eye can see
But if you want me, I'll be yours in this life

And I, I lost hope in finding you some day
But oh, there you were just standing in my way
Oh...

So many times that I've been thinking of you
So many nights that I've been tying my shoes
Ready to go out beating my heart all blue
Oh tell me, oh tell me, love
What are the odds I'd find you
What are the odds
With so many people living under the moon
What are the odds
With so many people living under the moon

So many people living under the moon
So many people living under the moon
So many people living under the moon
What are the odds I'd find you
What are the odds I'd find you
What are the odds
With so many people living under the moon
