

Wrong Reasons

Smokie

You've been looking round for so long that you don't know if it's right or it's wrong And I've been thinking that it always seems That I'm living in all the same old dreams Tonight you're going nowhere
And you can't make up your mind but tomorrow you may realize you need a love like mine, so Baby
You can love me for the wrong reasons
If that's what's gonna make you stay the night
And I can pretend that It's not gonna end
And in the morning we'll be alright
You can love me for the wrong reasons
if that's what's gonna get you through the day
but you won't find another heart like mine
'cause I'm gonna love you, I'm gonna love you in the right ways
you can tell yourself it's just the way I smile at you, or the things I say But you can't make myself believe it's true That It's not real you're just passing through an even when you're falling and you tell me that you're not That won't stop me giving you everything I got, so baby
You can love me for the wrong reasons
If that's what's gonna make you stay the night
And I can pretend that It's not gonna end
And in the morning we'll be alright
You can love me for the wrong reasons
if that's what's gonna get you through the day
but you won't find another heart like mine
'cause I'm gonna love you, I'm gonna love you
in the right ways
Tonight you're going nowhere
And you can't make up your mind
But tomorrow you may realize
You need a love like mine - so baby
You can love me for the wrong reasons
if that's what's gonna get you through the day
but you won't find another heart like mine
in the right ways
