Colder

SNBRN

To be honest
I don't really think that you did all the things that you promi sed
I, I'd be lyin'
If I told you that I didn't wonder if we could keep tryin'

And I'm tryin'
'Cause the blankets keep on slippin' off
And I reach for you, but the feeling's lost
To be honest
I'm hatin' the though of you wrapped with somebody
Somebody

Everything is colder now that you're gone
Everything is colder now that you're gone
Everything is colder now that you're gone
Everything is colder now that you're gone

Colder now that you're gone
Everything is colder now that you're gone

So I moved on
To a new town where nobody knows anything new about ya
And it feels good 'cause for a minute
I go and forget that what we had, it coulda been different (Been different, different)

Your side of the bed is an empty space
So I found someone else to take your place
You moved on (Moved on)
But their body doesn't feel a thing like your body on my body

Everything is colder now that you're gone
Everything is colder now that you're gone
Everything is colder now that you're gone

Everything is colder now that you're gone
Everything is colder now that you're gone
