

The Curve Of Earth

Snow Patrol

Yes the forest knows what no one else can know
The cracks that riddle me like fault lines
Love is everything and nothing all at once
When history seems all that's left

It sometimes feels like I am watching you from space
The curve of earth, the curve of you
And burning hearts just look like greens and blues from here
And everything is healed and calm

Quiet footsteps, gentle touch, one chance
Have you found the rhythm in this dance
Hold me tight through all these seasons
Even only in your mind
Unforgotten through unshaken time

And still the darkness comes like clockwork everyday
But then the daylight follows too
And there's no super moon or superman for us
There's just me and there's just you

Quiet footsteps, gentle touch, one chance
Have you found the rhythm in this dance
Hold me tight through all these seasons
Even only in your mind
Unforgotten through unshaken time
Hold me tight through all these seasons
Even only in your mind
Unforgotten through unshaken time
