

Walking Away

Snowy White

Stand by me, baby, and watch the sun go down
It's best if I say these words with no one else around
Please forgive me if I say good-bye again
I've got to make it, I know you can take it

It's been a long, long time since I let my soul roam free
You've always known this day would come eventually
You know I wouldn't hurt you for the world, can't you see
I've got to make it, I know you can take it

So I'm walking away from you again
I'm walking away from you again
Walking away from you
Walking away from love
That's alright

Oh baby, don't cry those tears for me
We could make it right so easily
So, stand close now, baby, watch the sun go down across the sea
I've got to make it, I hope you can take it

'Cause I'm walking away from you again
I'm walking away from you again
Yes, I'm walking away from you
Walking away from love

Yes, I'm walking away from you again
I'm walking away from you again
Walking away from you
Walking away from love

I'm walking away from you again
Yes, I'm walking away from you again
Walking away from you
Walking away from love

I'm walking away from you again
Yes, I'm walking away from you again
Walking away from you
Walking away from love