

When The Storm Is Over

Sofia Karlberg

At first there were raindrops in the sky
The air is so heavy, mmh-mmh-mmh
Over our echoes, thunderclouds
But I am not ready
They say only bad clouds could be the cause
Of the real bad weather
And it's true, I've been wearing you out
Didn't know better than this

Baby, as the rain pours, could I fall down to your umbrella?
'Cause it's true, I've been naked without
Wish I knew better then
Now that it's falling apart

But when it comes down
Something in the air says we're 'bout to drown
Baby, we were meant for closure
Tell me when the storm is over
So carried away, I'll hold onto your hand
Until the ground stops shaking
Baby, will you let me know then?
Tell me when the storm is over

Searching for rainbows, desperate minds
Come where you met me, oh-oh-oh
You give me your last stroke, take me down
Blow what we can't be

Baby, as the rain pours, could I fall down to your umbrella?
'Cause it's true, I've been naked without
Wish I knew better then
Now that it's falling apart

But when it comes down
Something in the air says we're 'bout to drown
Baby, we were meant for closure
Tell me when the storm is over
So carried away, I'll hold onto your hand
Until the ground stops shaking
Baby, will you let me know then?
Tell me when the storm is over

(Tell me when it's over)
Falling apart

But when it comes down
Something in the air says we're 'bout to drown
Baby, we were meant for closure
Tell me when the storm is over
So carried away, I'll hold onto your hand
Until the ground stops shaking
Baby, will you let me know then?
Tell me when the storm is over
