

Fall Like Rain

Soja

We build these walls inside ourselves
We get afraid to ask for help
'Cause in the past, the help just hasn't healed your soul
You see this person in the mirror
Sometimes we wish that it was clearer
Sometimes we wish that we just couldn't see at all

We are who we are
We build and we break
We rise and we fall
We give and we take
We love without a reason
We smile through the pain
And we've been here before, and we're coming again
Oh God we fall like rain
Oh God we fall like rain

You see the life you're leading now
The one you cannot live without
It's connected to the moon and the stars
We are the children of the light
Going bravely into night
We fighting daily in this heavenly war

And we are who we are
We build and we break
We rise and we fall
We give and we take
We love without a reason
We smile through the pain
And we've been here before, and we're coming again
Oh God we fall like rain
Oh God we fall like rain

We are the future and the past
We are the good and we're the bad
We are the prophet and the preacher in one
We are the blessing and the curse
We are the blessed and the worst
We get a chance to deserve our life before we're gone

And we are who we are
We build and we break
We rise and we fall
We give and we take
We love without a reason
We smile through the pain
And we've been here before, and we're coming again
Oh God we fall like rain

Thank God we fall like rain

We always fall like rain

I see us fall like rain
