

The Day You Came

Soja

When you need me, you beg me stay
And when you don't, you just walk away
And your shadow is all I see
And then you live in my memory

So I beg you turn around and come back to me now
'Cause all I can feel is down when you're away- wait
I sit and watch the phone and think back to years ago-
Who did I "used to be" before the day you came?

Before the fire, before the flame?

When I need you, you're hard to find
I replay moments in my mind
When our love was just both of us
Before your heart just went and turned me off...

So I beg you turn around and come back to me now
'Cause all I can feel is down when you're away- wait
I sit and watch the phone and think back to years ago-
Who did I "used to be" before the day you came?

Before the storm, before the rain?

When the sun sets I look for you
I sit and wonder what happened to
Those days we spent with our simple plans?
And blindly wish that I could see you again...

So I beg you turn around and come back to me now
'Cause all I can feel is down when you're away- wait
I sit and watch the phone and think back to years ago-
Who did I "used to be" before the day you came?

Before the sad, and before the pain?

Before the day you came...