

Survival Of The Outlaw

Solefald

As a hungry wolf with an old man's teeth
I run freezing cold in caves forever Crushing the sun, the daylight and all time
When the weather is clear
I live in night and darkness
That's why I'm still here Iceland was my home with seals in the fjords My winter's only thought is Fleeing from the hordes
They may come anytime to kill me like a dog Always on guard, I pray for another day of fog

(CHORUS):

As the outlaw I am I shout at the mighty Thor Greatest God of t hunder I can't take it anymore Take me home where smoke rises f rom the halls Make me welcome again within the Chieftan's walls

Drown his treacherous wife the adulterous queen Who told the ki ng what a rapist I had been She lied she was wrong, she asked me to seduce her In her game of sex I was bound to be the loser She harmed her h usband's skald
Caused the poet's disgrace Outlawed at Althingi
I can never show my face at Reykjanes again Lest I want to endure all the evils She accused me of doing to her More bone than man I hail the Gods of the north Avenge my injus tices I beg you to come forth Misfortune loves both fool and wi se
For seven winters I have strayed the land of ice A master of th e word and a man of the sword Of tongue and steel
Many times I proved to be Lord Gods of the north I beg you come forth More bone than man, Odin I hail you As a slave on the run I must stay out of sight Our father make my destiny right
That in none of the worlds whose number is nine Another innocen t must suffer a fate like mine

(CHORUS)
