

Secrets

Solitary Experiments

I have found the reason the reason for the pain
As long as nothing changes we have to take the blame
I have found the answer (for) what we are looking for
Why all these things are happen which we try to ignore

Secrets; what's the truth behind
There's nothing we can really explain
I don't know, if we waste our time
To understand our real emotions

I believe, in strange things like these
To find the hiding place of our stolen memories

I have found a remedy, a means to heal the disease
To alleviate our injuries and to uncover all intrigues
It's an illusion, from there it seems no escape
The only possibility is to awake from our dreams

Secrets; what's the truth behind
There's nothing we can really explain
I don't know, if we waste our time
To understand our real emotions

I believe, in strange things like these
To find the hiding place of our stolen memories

Secrets; what's the truth behind
There's nothing we can really explain
I don't know, if we waste our time

To understand our real emotions