Solstice

The weight of the world has Buried us alive
Blatant disregard of life
I'm smothered beneath the time
A swift and horrid change
The face of humanity
Is cold and dead

Scars replace a fragile being
This new colorless adopted breed
Features decrease, no remains
This lack of faith, no true belief

Humanity will fade away
And cease to be
Reality remains the same
This suffering in me
Crossing breed, impurity
Born to bleed
Infection spreads, the entity
Extinct from disease

Impressive technology

The path of suffering
A shortened breath collapsing
The weak will fall first
And lay in dirt beneath the earth life is my obscenity
The face of humanity is cold and dead
