

Keep on Believing

Sonic Boom Six

Do you remember the day we caught the train
Down to London to see the band come play
NOFX on the walkman on the way?

Drinking beer on the kerb with all the punks
Read the free fanzine from back to front
Even chatted in the queue to Babar Luck

All we had were the legends we believed
Maybe that's all we need

It was the sound of our anthem
We raised our fists like a champion
And nothing seemed so uncertain
But maybe all we knew was there's a world much better than this

Keep believing
You're fighting for a battle with meaning
All mandem afi jump for the ceiling
Cos maybe all we know is there's a world much better
than this

After the show hung around inside the bar
Had a drink with the guy that plays guitar
Staggered to the station after dark

Nodding off with the strangers on the train
With the words running round inside our brain
Do they know life will never be the same?

All we had were the legends we believed
Maybe that's all we need

It was the sound of our anthem
We raised our fists like a champion
And nothing seemed so uncertain
But maybe all we knew was there's a world much better
than this

Keep believing
You're fighting for a battle with meaning
All mandem afi jump for the ceiling
Cos maybe all we know is there's a world much better
than this

When it's not easy to see
You gotta remember
(Maybe that's all we need)
The day's we truly believed
You gotta remember them

Cos this life flows like a stream
And though our dreams sweep out to the sea
The day's we truly believed
Our ours to keep

It was the sound of our anthem
We raised our fists like a champion
And nothing seemed so uncertain
But maybe all we knew was there's a world much better
than this

Keep believing
You're fighting for a battle with meaning
All mandem afe jump for the ceiling
Cos maybe all we know is there's a world much better
than this

Keep believing
You gotta keep on believing
You gotta keep on believing
Cos maybe all we know is there's a world much better than this