

Confessions

Sonic Syndicate

Its a constant remind
That even in absence of light
Some flowers still bloom in the night
That's how you stood out from the crowd
From the crowd

Stone after stone after stone, ye, we build our walls
Trying to protect ourselves from being vulnerable
Truth is you're only as strong
As the one you love
The one you love

It's like you knew your days were numbered
(Confessions)
And started counting every beat-beat of your heart
I only wish I could have told you
(Confessions)
That it's hurting much more now we are apart
(Confessions)
That it's hurting much more now we are apart
(Confessions)
That it's hurting much more now we are apart

You took your time
Got settled in
Made a home beneath my skin
I'll raise a glass you did it with class
Made me believe that this could last

Time after time after time I fell for your lies
Wishing the ground would just open take me alive
Took me this long to start over and realise
You're death by design

It's like you knew your days were numbered
(Confessions)
And started counting every beat-beat of your heart
I only wish I could have told you
(Confessions)
That it's hurting much more now we are apart
(Confessions)
That it's hurting much more now we are apart
(Confessions)
That it's hurting much more now we are apart

If truth be told
Revenge is cold
Hence if I could
I'd dance in your blood

If truth be told
Revenge is cold
Hence if I could
I'd dance in your blood

It's like you knew your days were numbered
(Confessions)

And started counting every beat-beat of your heart
I only wish I could have told you
(Confessions)
That it's hurting much more now we are apart
(Confessions)
That it's hurting much more now we are apart
(Confessions`
That it's hurting much more now we are apart