

Your Touch

Sonny Alven

Under the stars there's a place for each of us
I'm in this place I should find my way to trust
Feel like I never know if I should stay or go
Stuck in the game and though I just lay low
Willing to do this right it isn't black and white
We gotta turn the flame on and shine

Your touch makes me feel like we're so much
More than they could ever see
But I just know that I'm never coming back to
Never coming back to you

Your touch makes me feel like we're so much
More than they could ever see
But I just know that I'm never coming back to
Never coming back to you

Now that you're gone, I can breathe and sing aloud
Even though you used to be my only crowd
Feel like I never know if I should stay or go
Stuck in the game and though I just lay low
Willing to do this right it isn't black and white
We gotta turn the flame on and shine

Your touch makes me feel like we're so much
More than they could ever see
But I just know that I'm never coming back to
Never coming back to you

Oh, I know it hurts no surrender no return
Gently give us away
Oh, I know it hurts no surrender no return
Gently give us away

Your touch makes me feel like we're so much
More than they could ever see
But I just know that I'm never coming back to
Never coming back to you

Your touch makes me feel like we're so much
More than they could ever see
But I just know that I'm never coming back to
Never coming back to you