

Already Won

SonReal

Your time ain't running up
I know you've had enough
But things are looking up
So go take in your sun
Just walk, you don't need to run
'Cause you already won

Yeah, yeah
Nah nah nah nah nah I ain't even got the words for it
This is my religion, I ain't even go to church for it
Yeah I feel connected like my feet on the earth for it
Never felt like work, let my heart do the work for it
Lately I love who I've become
Know what I got, no I ain't dumb
Guess I already won

Ay
I called my mom crying back in '010
Felt so lost up in this world, I needed somewhere to vent
'Bout all the things that I made up about myself in my head
I get up and go to work, when I get off go to bed
Felt like music as a job was 'bout as close at the moon
But I kept going 'cause I don't have a choice, this shit's in me
Never forget to smell my roses, they all pretty
And all those tough talks I had, they stayed with me like

Your time ain't running up
I know you've had enough
But things are looking up
So go take in the sun
Just walk, you don't need to run
'Cause you already won

Became the one that I came to be
Where I'm from, they say get a job
Where you already determine what your wage will be (yeah)
Botched that concept at fifteen gracefully
Threw a Hail Mary just to show 'em where my faith'll be Never gave a fuck to ball at the mall, nah
I just wanted to get up when I fell down
Doing twenty as I bog through the fog yeah
Them times will show you just who you are yeah
Shout out to momma, shout out to my sisters, shout out to wifey
My brothers hold me down, had the vision, my brothers hyped me
This shit don't happen from flipping coins, wishing people liked me
It came from messing up, not giving a fuck if people like me
All things aside I'ma slide on through
I know it gets hard, ya gotta ride for you
I know you got dreams that ain't all come true
But I wrote this hook for you, for you

Your time ain't running up
I know you've had enough
But things are looking up
So go take in the sun
Just walk, you don't need to run
'Cause you already won

Your time ain't running up
I know you've had enough
But things are looking up
So go take in the sun
Just walk, you don't need to run
'Cause you already won