

Angel In Disguise

Sophie B. Hawkins

You wanted to be the best little girl
Now you gotta be the best big mom
Give your kids what you never had
Teach them right from wrong
You had to be daddy's little girl
Now you've got to be the perfect wife
But you can't hold back the land slide
And you can't control your life

Do it with love
Telling no lies
You're playing with the devil girl
But you're an angel in disguise

You're on the road less traveled now
But your kids still sleep in their own beds
Don't stare in the rear view mirror
Look ahead

Do it with love
Telling no lies
You're playing with the devil girl
But you're an angel in disguise

Out of the box
Don't compromise
He'll never know that he's been touched
By an angel in disguise

They'll never understand you anyway
Your chips are falling, falling like rain
Your tables turning, but you still got to play
And if you have to explain

Do it with love
Telling no lies
You're playing with the devil girl
But you're an angel in disguise

Out of the box
Don't compromise
He'll never know that he's been touched
By an angel in disguise

God only knows
The truth in your eyes
You play the devil oh so well
But you're an angel in disguise
