

Saviour Child

Sophie B. Hawkins

Hey child you're so wise
Will you tell me what you're thinking?
I don't need an answer just to talk to you awhile
I stop searching when I see you smile

Yeah child, I am crying
'Cause I know just how you're feeling
But there won't be an answer for a long, long while
So promise me you won't stop dreaming

Color rainbows in the rain
And follow to a heart of gold
There's a saviour born every day
In the valley of your soul

It's you child, hello, so learn the truth
Though most folks, they'll keep on lying, yeah
There will be an answer, just you give yourself the time
Promise me you won't stop trying, yeah

Color rainbows in the rain
And follow to a heart of gold
There's a saviour born every day
In the valley of your soul

In the valley
In the valley
In the valley

There is a saviour born every day
There is a saviour born
There is a saviour born every day
There is a saviour born

There is a saviour born every day
There is a saviour born
There is a saviour born every day
There is a saviour born

There is a saviour born every day
There is a saviour born

There is a saviour born every day
There is a saviour born
There is a saviour born every day
There is a saviour born

There is a saviour born every day
There is a saviour born
There is a saviour born every day
There is a saviour born
