

Break The Habit

Sophie Barker

No room for communication, no room for words at all
No way that I misunderstood you, you just changed your mind

Thought we were fitted, now the world's falling down
But I don't have your issue, I want to grab as much happiness, happiness that I can

A muddied interpretation, in the beginning was the word
Funny how time can change things, depending on what you heard

I was prepared to break the habit, I could live a lifetime
I was prepared to break the habit, live a lifetime

Break, break, break the habit
Break, break, break the habit
In the beginning was the word,
Got to get it out of my system
In the beginning was the word