

Darling Don't

Sophie Cates

And don't call me up at 3 in the morning
If she didn't pick up and I'm your second choice
'Cause I know you're drunk, your love is a hoax
And I hate the fact that I still recognize your voice
But, oh, you say you made a mistake
And I'm the only one suffering from consequences
Don't, I beg, you're making it harder on me to forget
And we have nothing left to say

So darling, don't pull me
Back into your gravity
I am weak
Every time you call me
So don't call me
So don't call me

You regret your calls and I regret loving
Every hopeless addict who could remember my name
Nostalgic faults and a heavy coat covering
The dress you always loved
Before the pills that dodged your brain
And, oh, you say the pain's overwhelming
I always knew when you were lying to my face
Don't, I beg, she's dying to love you
You're dying right back 'cause I was easy to replace

So darling, don't pull me
Back into your gravity
I am weak
Every time you call me
So don't call me
So don't call me

And what am I supposed to say?
Well, honey, my heart doesn't matter anyway
Am I supposed to drink
The way you do to make it all okay?

So don't call me
So don't call me
