

All I wanna be is the one you sometimes miss when you're with your friends I wanna be the spit that tingles on your lips and if you find yourself scared to be alone

All I wanna be
is the house you call a home

All I'll ever be is the sound of grinding teeth the autumn wind that blows your hair and the hand that's out of reach

If you think you can't find a way to breathe all I'll ever be is the smoke to clear the sea

I will never be the one you need
I only hope to be the solid ground beneath your feet
I will never be the turning of your leaves
I just hope to be the one you call when you can't sleep

I will never be the one you need
I only hope to be the solid ground beneath your feet
I will never be the turning of your leaves
I just hope to be the one you call when you can't sleep.