Old Enough

Spacey Jane

Well I remember sun that burns
You can hold it up and then take turns
And well please stop looking so concerned
And I'm old enough to not get burnt

Keep on talking to my words as sound
It doesnt end, It wouldn't hurt to pull it out
When everything is covered ground
When you look but you can't look down

Haven't fallen asleep for days
I fall asleep and wake up in space
She made a man out of me
And she set that scared boy free
Now I dream as easy as I bleed

Keep your bleeding and the rest of your teeth too, honey
Tear you hair out and stare
Go and sell and make some money
It's a hard game you're running
I don't find it funny
Well all these days
Well you've lost your ways
She keeps on calling it a real thing I'm running
A hot bun in the oven
Better come running
Yea she's deep in love and I'm only four

It's coming through the rocks and the sand
All the glass in my hand
I'm tryna play it cool baby
Please understand
Well she looks me dead in the eye
And she tells me I'm handsome
Holding
Holding
Me to ransom

Please take me more seriously
As I thought previously
Old Enough to know that I was to blame

Please take me more seriously
As I thought previously
Old Enough to know that I was to blame

Please take me more seriously
As I thought previously
Old Enough to know that I was to blame
