

Through My Teeth

Spacey Jane

All my love, going to count it up
Is it ever what you think it is?
I've been lying through my teeth again
Through my teeth again
It's how I made it past my seventeenth
It is

Throwing up on the balcony
Who'll drive you home? Your friends have gone
Breaking off little parts of me
You're crying like you've lost me wholly

Tell my mum that I mean none of it
Not a single bit
I know by now she's probably sick of me
Yeah, I'm sick of it
I've been lying through my teeth again
Through my teeth again
It's how I made it past my seventeenth
It is, it is

Throwing up on the balcony
Who'll drive you home? Your friends have gone
Breaking off little parts of me
You're crying like you've lost me wholly

Is it enough to be lonely?
How can I pay for this, honey?
Is it enough to be lonely?
But I'm old enough, I'll go out slowly

Ooh
Ooh

Come pick me up
It's permanent now
It's all coming out
Come pick me up
It's permanent now
It's up and it's down

Throwing up on the balcony
Who'll drive you home? Your friends have gone
Breaking off little parts of me
You're crying like you've lost me wholly

Is it enough to be lonely?
How can I pay for this, honey?
Is it enough to be lonely?
