

Weightless

Spacey Jane

You're waiting on someone, I know
I feel it
Need me to be someone I'm not
I can't be it
And if I only had the chance
I could prove it
Insecurity in the way
I'll move it

Black burnt heartache
Falls on us
Falls hard

Well, oh, what did we say if we keep going this way?
It's a red, raw sadness eating us away
And I'm sorry, darling, the words don't hold their weight
No, they drop well short and slowly fade to grey

Oh, my car won't start, my legs won't work
And I'm stuck
And your eyes won't open, your head won't turn
The time stops
And I'm just sitting waiting to get towed
And catch the bus
And you stay still there lying until you can stop the tears
And fall asleep

Black burnt heartache
Falls on us
Falls hard

Well, oh, what did we say if we keep going this way?
It's a red, raw sadness eating us away
And I'm sorry, darling, the words don't hold their weight
No, they drop well short and slowly fade to grey

And I just keep on talking
Louder and louder
Under then over
But never through to you

Are you waiting on someone?
Are you waiting on someone?
Yeah, I'm trying to find you
Yeah, I'm trying to find you

Are you waiting on someone (Someone) to take you away?
Yeah, I'm trying to find you and tell you I'm feeling the same
Are you waiting on someone (Someone) to take you away?
Yeah, I'm trying to find you to tell you I'm feeling the same
Are you waiting on someone?
