

Forever In My Songs

Sparks The Rescue

It was Mary Jane and screw-top wine,
As we lay across your bed that night,
And wished on plastic stars,
you said you found out who you are.

Your body felt like heaven,
Oh my heavens, I'd be foolish to,
Ever do you wrong,
Forever in my songs.

Down on your floor,
Tacked up on your wall,
I spent months waiting to fall,
Into your bed,
Start over again,
And the days go on and on,
Even when our love is dead and gone,
You're forever in my songs.

It felt so right to have you to touch,
And I used your love a bit too much,
We lost it from the start,
Forever we're apart.

And is it worth it if I'm always gone?
You said you feel me when you hear my songs,
As you're driving in your car,
Sing my verses, leave a scar, but don't go too far.

Down on your floor,
Tacked up on your wall,
I spent months waiting to fall,
Into your bed,
Start over again,
And the days go on and on,
Even when our love is dead and gone,
You're forever in my songs.

I'll keep you with me in my heart,
It's right where you belong,
I'll trap you with my lines and hooks,
Oh, forever in my songs.
Oh no, no, no,
But it was you who said,
"Love will fade and fall apart one day."

Down on your floor,
Tacked up on your wall,
I spent months waiting to fall,
Into your bed,
Start over again,
And the days go on and on,
Even when our love is dead and gone,
So we say our "goodbyes" and "so longs"
You're forever in my songs.
