

Othello

Sparks

I'm alive and I can see
I'm alive and I can hear
Hear the sound of angel wings
See the face that soldiers fear

Othello, cat got your tongue?
You're cold, dark, strange tonight
Othello, what have I done?

Seems to me you've lost your mind
Too much wine or too much heat
Something that Iago said
Something that Iago said to you

Othello, cat got your tongue?
You're cold, dark, strange tonight
Othello, what have I done?

Something in the rhythm must have driven you mad
You say that I was with the man, I say that you're mad
'Cause something in the rhythm must have driven you mad

Far, far away there's a place where jealousy doesn't exist
And far, far away there's a place where dreams can come true

Othello, cat got your tongue?
You're cold, dark, strange tonight
Othello, what have I done?

Othello, cat got your tongue?
Othello, what have I done?
