

This Angry Young Man (Ain't Angry No More)

Sparks

Overnight, I grew a smile and it worries me
Kicking everybody's dog now seems extreme
Here is hoping that tomorrow I will disagree
With everything you do and think and say to me

This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more

In the throes of some deluxe love affair
When the conversation turns to the past
I will say, "Well, if you like me now. you should have known me then"
"You wouldn't have liked me then," then I'll laugh

This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more

This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more

Where is my bite
Now I'm left with just memories
Of days and nights
Cursing indiscriminately
Ten thousand fights
Now you'll speak and I will agree
It isn't right
Now there's nothing bothering me, except this...

This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more

This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more
This angry young man ain't angry no more

Hey, hey, hey, hey
Things are looking better each day
Hey, hey, hey, hey
Everything is going my way
Hey, hey, hey, hey
But my smile is starting to fade
Hey, hey, hey, hey
And my bed is staying unmade
