

Whatever Come May Be

Sparzanza

This is the place where you were born
This is the land you left forlorn
Behind the gates
Behind the walls
Lies everything that you are made of

Whatever come may be
This is our fate, our destiny
Whatever life may bring
Just close your eyes and count to ten
When the night is coming to stay
And death is on its way
Whatever come may be
This is our destiny

Whatever you do, whatever you say
An echo from your forgotten days
You think you are free with a will of your own
But your mind belongs to those who did you wrong
The shadows from the past are coming to life
And this time there's nowhere you can hide

Whatever come may be
This is our fate, our destiny
Whatever life may bring
Just close your eyes and count to ten
When the night is coming to stay
And death is on its way
Whatever come may be
This is our destiny

There is nothing that we can change
What has been cannot be erased
We are falling through time and space

Whatever come may be
This is our fate, our destiny
Whatever life may bring
Just close your eyes and count to ten
When the night is coming to stay
And death is on its way
Whatever come may be
This is our destiny

This is our destiny

Whatever come may be