

Driving Up the Ceiling

Spiderbait

Hey

Driving
Up the ceiling
And I'm wheeling
All I'm meaning
And I'm dreaming
Of the night time
And I'm thinking
To a new sign
As we're taking
In the sunshine
Waiting
Saw the moon shine
And I'm sinking
Into tree tops
You're a comet
And I'm waiting
For the big time

Big furry green, monster unseen
Climbs up the hill, then down
Eats up a cow, horse and a plow
Looks at the treats around
Big furry green, monster quite mean
Begins the day alone
Thinks in his mind, there was a time
When everything was fine
Now can you see, no one but me
To do the monster things
Ate all the trees, grass and the leaves
And then he says why

Am I the only
So sad and lonely?
Once I adored you
Now I ignore you

Big furry green, monster quite clean
Reaches the cliff, twilight
Something inside, doesn't feel right
Then all the fear subsides
Makes up his mind, now is the time
To be a-leaving home
Opens his wings, leaps with a spring
And then he whispers:

Am I the only
So sad and lonely?
Once I adored you
Now I ignore you

Am I the only
So sad and lonely?
Once I adored you
Now I ignore you
