

Exit Wounds

Spineshank

What she feels, just short of nothing
Oh she's, still more than something
I can't I, no I can't watch her cry
While she cries

I'm calling out your name
But still resistant
Who assumes the blame?
And then it all comes down
Comes down
To the suffering you felt
Intended just for me
For me, it's just for me
For me, it's just for me

If you take this all away
And it still keeps bleeding
While your god looked the other way
Didn't it all mean nothing?

It's sinking in
I'm still adjusting
Below the dream
Was just dysfunction

Memories, I've half erased
Have replaced this life
That's dead and left behind
It's soothing like a murder
What did you bury?
The world that is collapsing
Keeps the tragedy relapsing and it's gone

If you take this all away
And it still keeps bleeding
While your god looked the other way
Didn't it all mean nothing?

Conscience broken
Words aren't spoken
Conscience is broken
Words aren't spoken

From me, to me, it's all for me
To see, it's just for me
She fucks him violently
To me, it's just for me

Disease is all I leave
Presenting shakes to me
She fucks him violently
For me, it's just for me

Disease is all I leave
For me, it's all for me
It all comes to an end
