

I Apologize

Splendor

You're down
So stay there
I'm clipping your unearned wings
My dear

You cry
For the outside
But I don't think you'll see it now

For rain that's fallen
Halfway down the sky
I apologize
For sunlight burning holes into your eyes
I apologize

You float like an angel
But then I wipe your cloud
And throw you out

You fall
'Cuz you can't fly
But I don't think you'll Feel it now

For rain that's fallen
Halfway down the sky
I apologize
For sunlight burning holes into your eyes
I apologize

The scent of the semen
Is what brought you here
We've made this clear
We slide on your insides
But I don't think we'll
Need it now