Wherever You Stand

Spock's Beard

Born from the hands of all men
The things we do are nothing new
But I feel it changin'

But I don't buy that way of thinkin'
To many robots in the cue
What they tryin' to do?

It's a crazy world in which we live
We take take take and rarely ever give
The sense of the common man has gone
The way of the mammoth

Fight fight fighting fighting all the time
Us and them eating away our minds
So can we really ever get along
I highly doubt it

Wherever you stand
Stand up tall
Release us all

Where is the love in the human heart
Turned into stone, will only fall apart
The fox bought the chicken coop
And took over the palace

So what can we say what can we do
Isn't there more of us then there are of you
One day the time will come
That renders you useless

Wherever you stand
Stand up tall
Release us all

Freedom does not come easy
Will we end it all or figure it out

It's a crazy world in which we live
We take take take and rarely ever give
The sense of the common man
Has gone the way of the mammoth

Fight fight fighting fighting all the time
Us and them eating away our minds
Let's take the lessons learned
And do something about it
