

In My Sight

Spoken

I'm waiting
For another page to turn
Hoping
I will embrace a lesson learned

I've got it wrong enough to know which path to choose
I'll get it right one day
I'll find my way to you

When the valley seems too far to cross
And the mountain ahead, too high to climb
I will trust that you are in control
I will leave all of my doubt somewhere behind
Somehow along the way
I'll keep you in my sight

When the valley seems too far to cross
And the mountain ahead, too high to climb
I will trust that you are in control
I will leave all of my doubt somewhere behind
Somehow along the way
I'll keep you in my sight

I need to know your heart
Find my way to the place you are
I need to find my way back home

I need to know your heart
Find my way to the place you are
To the place you are

When the valley seems too far to cross
And the mountain ahead, too high to climb
I will trust that you are in control
I will leave all of my doubt somewhere behind
Somehow along the way
I'll keep your hand in mine
I'll keep your hand in mine
