

Reflection

Spoken

Taken for granted all the time
Everything to everyone they wait in line
Could there be another way to justify
Or just defy
NO!
Don't let the shadows of the world control your mind
All the voices that you hear are lost in time
Could there be another way to just defy
Or justify

Reflections of the past
That lead us to a love that lasts

You've given your whole life
For those who have nothing more
They've given up on life
Over and over again
In another life
Something from so long ago
You are the reflection of the past
Reflections of the past

You have a way of breaking through
To find the pain
With every word you ever say
You're speaking life
With everything you have to say
You show the way to start again

Reflections of the past
That lead us to a love that lasts

You've given your whole life
For those who have nothing more
They've given up on life
Over and over again
In another life
Something from so long ago
You are the reflection of the past

Reflection
REFLECTIONS!

Reflections of the past
That lead us to a love that lasts

You've given your whole life
For those who have nothing more
There's no more wasting time
It's time to start over again
In another life
Something from so long ago
Reflection of the past
Reflections of the past