

Love & Roses

Sponge

The bride wore an attractive floor length gown
Of white and organdy, with accessories of green
The bridesmaids gowns were of tea rose lace and their bouquets
Were of sweet peas and roses

Does anyone remember when?
They were so happy then
Does anyone remember when?

Sweet love & roses...

The groom he dressed in black
A Michigan man with his hair slicked back
He held in his hand, the wedding band that he was to put on
The finger of the woman that he loved

Does anyone remember when?
They were so happy then
Does anyone remember when?

Sweet love & roses...

They share a cigarette
In the car that they rent for the evening
He reaches over to touch her hand
She moves right next to the man, the only man she'll love

Does anyone remember when?
They were so happy then
Does anyone remember when?

Sweet love & roses...

Ain't it funny what time can do?
To two lovers when love ain't so new
