

Unlucky

Sponge

That's all for today, you really played the game
It doesn't matter who'll win or lose, it's not the same
So glad that you came, so happy that you'll go away
I really took a beating and I'm reeling from the pain

When you're outside looking in, where do you fit in?
When you're outside looking in, where do you begin?
When you're outside looking, outside looking in

The left behind, the out of mind
We are the unlucky ones, we're the outside looking in
The out of mind, the out of time
We are the unlucky ones, we're the outside looking in

My head is feeling strange, I think it's gonna rain
The direction of the wind is really gonna change
No matter what they say, don't matter anyway
You can't get to heaven when the picture's outside the frame

When you're outside looking in, where do you fit in?
When you're outside looking in, where do you begin?
When you're outside looking, outside looking in

The left behind, the out of mind
We are the unlucky ones, we're the outside looking in
The out of mind, the out of time
We are the unlucky ones, we're the outside, outside looking in

You really think you got the time to get yourself together
For all you suffer from your tears you hear is your own laughter
I can't hear a thing, are you really listening?
I pray you get it, you get just what you're after now

When you're outside looking in, where do you fit in?
When you're outside looking in, where do you begin?
When you're outside looking, outside looking in

The left behind, the out of mind
We are the unlucky ones, we're the outside looking in
The out of mind, the out of time
We are the unlucky ones, we're the outside, outside looking in

We are the outside looking in (2x)
Oh, we are the outside looking in
