

Changin'

.sPout.

Changin' - Life is changin'

Good times, bad times no one knows, this life is changin, good day, bad day no one knows, this life is changin.

Life is changin, no one knows what this life will bring, life is changin, it's like an elevator, up and down and back again, life isn't a straight lane, there are also curves and everyone of us gets what he deserves.

Life is changin, I do my thing, life is changin I'm my own king, I still got my own songs to sing, but I can't say what this life will bring, life is changin not every day is great, not every day is like the one before, life is changin like a price of a whore, life is changin, and I don't wait until luck knocks on my door, I step through the door to find my luck, I cannot wait no more, I start to run no matter what come, I wake up and I get up I put my lazy ass up, I go outside and make my day, I make my day

Chorus

I can't say what I deserve, all I know is, that I'm on this earth to give my life a sense, I know my stance I know my essence and when my life hits me with an iron fist, I've sworn, I never stop to twist, this is a point on my "to-do" list.

Every day is a different day, no day must be like the one before, life is changin like the price of a whore.

Chorus

Life is changing - this life is changing permanent Life is changing - this world is turning till the end Life is changing - no one knows where we will be some day Life is changing - no one can see what will be some day

No one knows where we will stay some day - no matter how this life is changing - I'm arranged to give my life a sense - no matter how this life is changing - I keep my microphone burnin' - and now I'm out