

Don't Look Back (Empty Space)

.sPout.

I'm telling you - that I don't look back that means that I give a fuck about yesterday it's far away and counts no more I'm heading for more - for a new door I'm heading for tomorrow - no tomorrow straight ahead - is the way that I have to go is the way that I have to go is the way that I have to go I don't want to look back - I close that file I don't want to look back - there is just an empty space

(chorus) I don't look back - there is nothing to do for me I don't look back - there is nothing to see for me I don't look back - there is no one waiting for me I don't look back

I told you before - that I don't look back cause I'm looking for a foreign track which takes me away from yesterday - in my life this day is like an empty space - invested so much energy and now it's like to look into an empty case into an empty case into an empty case I don't want to look back - I close that case I don't want to look back - there is just an empty space

(chorus)

I'm telling you - that I don't look back that means that I give a fuck about yesterday it's far away and counts no more I'm telling you that I don't look back that means that I give a fuck about yesterday it's far away and counts no more

these days where just like an empty space to look back - would be like to look - into an empty case

(chorus)