

Daylight Savings

Squirrel Flower

I know it's daylight savings, dear
But I can't sleep
I know we've gained an hour
But it feels like I've lost two

I saw you biking, you were fast
Faster than I could go
I'm good at coming up with excuses
And giving them away like the things I've found

The trees are shedding all their leaves
I'm shedding my skin too
The colder air is moving in
And I'm ready and waiting
I'm ready and waiting
I'm ready and waiting

I know it's daylight savings, dear
But I can't sleep
I know we've gained an hour
But it feels like I've lost two
It feels like I've lost two
It feels like I've lost two
