

Reckless

St. Vincent

I watched you all night till the dawn had come
And the angels came down and picked you up breathless

The smell of your hair on curtains, babe
The wind blew the windows out in the rain
Reckless, reckless

And every part of you is in me now
There's no going back
I breathe you out
Breathless, breathless, breathless

London sun, the air like a shot
Hey, ma, I'm cracking, cracking up
Reckless, reckless, reckless

And I've been mourning you since the day I met you
Stranger, come in my path
And I'll eat you up, I'll tear you limb from limb, or I'll fall in love
Reckless, reckless, reckless

If your love was an anchor, then I am lost at sea
I hear the riders calling
They're calling for me

Calling for me
Calling for me
Calling for me
Calling for me
Calling for me
Calling for me
Calling for me
Calling for me
