

Better Days

Staind

I've been feeling
Out of control
There's no healing
Between all the roads
And there's no comfort
Am I losing my soul?
Is it too late
To just let it go?

And someday, I will wake up and everything has changed
Until then, I will dream of better days
Still living in the sorrow and learning from the pain
Until then, I will dream of better days

I tried to hold on
But it slipped through my hands
Do you believe in
A second chance for all we've been through?
And don't you think we deserve
So much more than this hurt?

And someday, I will wake up and everything has changed
Until then, I will dream of better days
Still living in the sorrow and learning from the pain
Until then, I will dream of better days
Of better days

I've been feeling
So out of control
There's no healing

And someday, I will wake up and everything has changed
Until then, I will dream of better days
Still living in the sorrow and learning from the pain
Until then, I will dream of better days
Someday, I will wake up and everything has changed
Until then, I will dream of better days
Still living in the sorrow and learning from the pain
Until then, I will dream of better days
Of better days
Of better days
Of better days