I'll never forget, you know my first conversation with Ross Um, the knowledge that he shared with me It always stuck with me One of the first conversations I had with him You know he loved my uniqueness He loved my originality You know he always said I was an icon Down to my Stalley logo, if you've ever seen a Stalley logo You know he's like man you an icon, that loge should be everywhere And he always used to say Don't let anybody tell you what you can't do And always do you, don't worry about what anybody else is saying That always stuck with me You know, just being early to the game And new to the industry And knowing that a lot of things will come that may affect you He always was like kinda peel your ears back and do you You know, don't be effected by what's going on Just stay focused, tunnel vision It sounds like simple advice But when you're that, when you're deep into it, its hard Because you do hear things And sometimes you might take the blinders off and look to the right or left And see some things or hear some things That make you kind of want to go... off, derail a little bit But you gotta stay focused One of my most memorable studio moments Was just uh being at Ross' house You know uh, just going down to Miami He got a studio in his house And just building with him, vibing with him Seeing how he works Like Ross the type of person to wake up at six in the morning Be in the studio You know, might take a little nap Or might not sleep at all And just be in the studio all day

You know, just kind of soaking up that energy And seeing how hard he worked, and how successful he was That's always a memorable moment for me I remember walking outside and just writing You know some music for my mixtape Savage Journey And kind of sitting in his driveway And seeing 300, 200, 400 thousand dollar cars You know what I mean just writing and being inspired Like man, like this is where I'm trying to get to You know, but knowing that I'm out here writing these raps And he's in the studio working like he ain't got none of this Like you know what I'm saying So that's probably my most memorable moment in the studio Just being inspired by the hard work You know I'm inspired by hard work, I'm inspired by drive And I love to be around that type of energy
